“ Michael,

It seems like only yesterday that a ten year old Irish kid met a 12 year old Polish boy at Front and Snyder. The years have just shot by us and brought us to this final farewell here on earth.

I can only think back now in our twilight and remember how thankful that I am for the privilege of knowing you.

You taught all of us who banded together at that early age, how to be real friends. None of us could ever dream what pain and suffering that would be sent your way. We watched and marveled at how any man could handle what you endured. You never complained never blamed God or others, and showed the courage that made you what few of us could ever be.

God gave you a "ROCK" to lean on and Fran stood by you to the end.

Rest now, Michael.

Fran, your Marine has fought the good fight, and now that "Taps" has sounded; we can only reflect back on how rich our lives have been for having known him for so long.

You always led the way, Michael and so you have left us first.

Save a place for us, good friend.

With Love,

Bill and Emilie Bradley and Family.

And any whoever wore the Shamrock Jersey.
